

President Harding making his address in the amphitheater at Arlington. A specially constructed amplifier carried his voice over the entire country.

National Photo.

Chief Plenty Coos, chief of the Crow nations, representing the Indians of the United States, places a war bonnet and coup stick on the tomb of the unknown American warrior at Arlington.

National Photo Co.

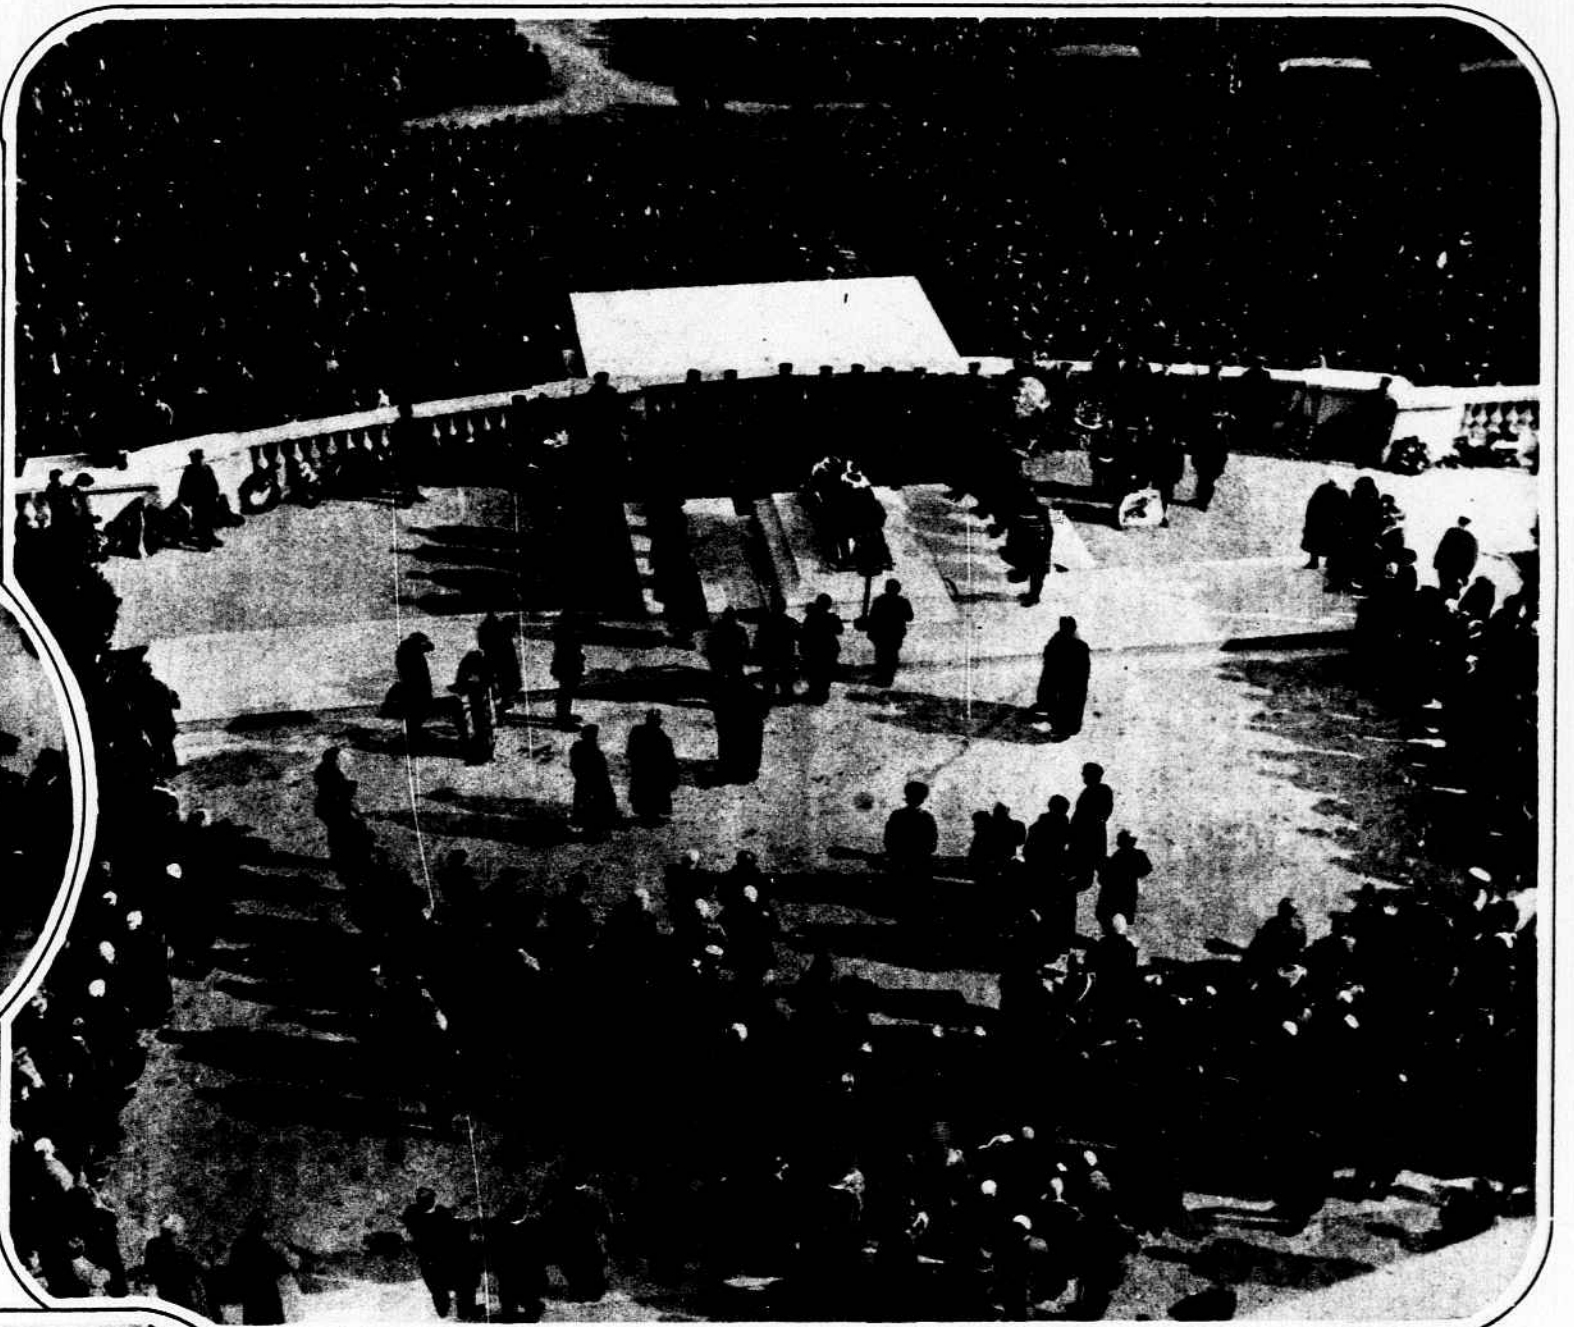

Blaze of light on night of November 11, with the dome of the Capitol standing out through the rays of powerful searchlights. One of the features of illumination of entire downtown section of Washington.

International.

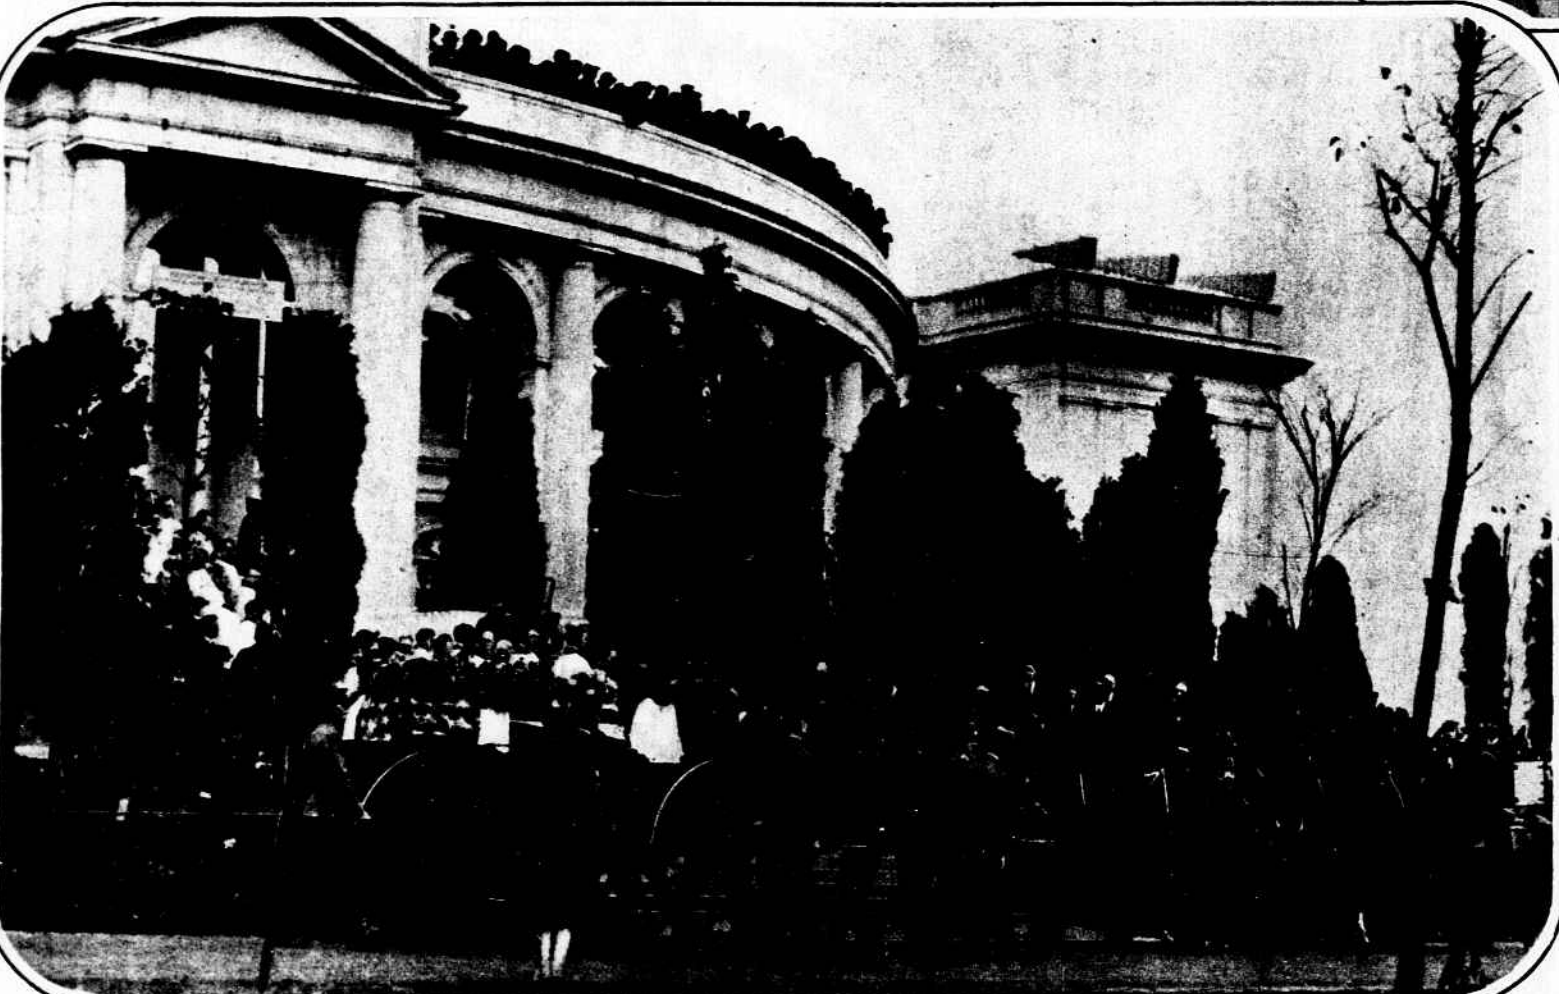

President Harding and Gen. Pershing marching on Pennsylvania avenue in the funeral procession of the unknown hero.

National Photo Co.

Committal service by Chaplain Brent at tomb of the unknown soldier.

National Photo.

Arrival of caisson bearing body of unknown soldier at entrance of Arlington amphitheater after march from the Capitol.

National Photo

Picked delegation of world war heroes bearing the body of unknown soldier into the Arlington amphitheater through the south entrance.

National Photo.